Fenianism Again.

ANOTHER Fenian campaign is said to be upon the tapis, with Canada again as its objective point. A call is shortly to be issued for a "Grand National Fenian Council," in which the full plans of the approaching campaign are to be discussed, estimates for supplies of war material to be received and considered, and arrangements generally for the grand movement to be made.

Is it possible that the folly of this whole Fenian business, as a military enterprise looking to the forcible overthrow of British rule in Ireland, and especially through an attack upon Canada, is not yet apparent to everybody? Can even Irishmen be duped any longer into supporting such a chimerical, not to say criminal, undertaking?

What good results has this Fenian business yet produced? Look at that miserable Canadian invasion of last summer. A few poor Canadian farmers killed, and now a half-score or more of infatuated men wearing out the weary hours of a long imprisonment, having barely escaped the halter by the kind interposition of our Government, are all the fruits it can boast.

There appears to be no prospect of a general Indian war at present, despite the surmising of many to the contrary. The Indians, although hostile, are quiet, and the policy of General Hancock in talking them into submission, appears just now to be as successful as he could have desired.

HAS ANY TRAITOR BEEN PARDONED?—The recent decision of Chief Justice Chase in regard to the confiscation of the real estate of an alleged Rebel is of vital interest at the present time. The Chief Justice held that no man was guilty of rebellion until he was convicted, and no man could be convicted until he had been tried by a jury of his peers.
